

The paper(less) office

2017: Paper is still king

The concept of paperless office was first created in 1975. Nearly 40 years later, industries still rely on paper for matters big and small.

How much is paper costing you?

For those who equate technology with unforeseen, unwelcome costs, the price of remaining paper reliant might come as a shock.

Productivity Costs

Paper-based processes are terribly inefficient.

35% employee time spent looking for info in email & filing cabinets

45% of paper printed in offices is trashed at the end of each business day

10 000 paper sheets per year per office worker

The economics of lost paper

Take a look at the hefty price tags that come with each paper sheet that is so essential to your business.

A document is lost every 12 seconds in large organizations

The cost of each misfiled document is $125

The cost of each lost document ranges between $350-700

Paper reliance: risky business

70% of today's businesses would fail within three weeks if they suffered a catastrophic loss of paper-based records.

95% of all businesses still have information stored on paper.
